Five things we learned

www.software.ac.uk

- We need to provide incentives to reward reuse
 - Both reuse of software / making software reusable
- The software/researcher career track is not well defined or well supported
 - How do we improve identification and recognition?
- Sharing knowledge and information is important
 - “Cultural differences”, what fits best for a community?
- It's both difficult and easy to collaborate
 - Overcoming communication barriers isn't just tech
- There's a huge wealth of knowledge in this room
